Rome, February 18, 1931.

Homer Brett, Esquire,
American Consul,
Milan.

Dear Mr. Brett,

Many thanks for your letter of February 13 and for your kindness in taking so much trouble on my behalf.

I should be very glad if Count Cornaggia would report to me on the ten coins of which I enclose a list. <sup>he</sup> ~~I~~ would also bid, or have someone who is experienced, bid for me at the sale, without exceeding the maximum amounts which I put down. I shall be willing to pay the usual ten per cent fee to the bidder.
If it is not too much trouble, will you put this matter
through for me?

I enclose a check to your order for 4,000 lire, which is more than the maximum amount of my bid.

Sincerely yours,

John W. Garrett.

Enclosure:
Check for 4,000 lire.
List.

ROME, March 4, 1931.

Dear Mr. Brett:

Something - I have not yet been able to find out what - happened to your letter about the coins and the check enclosed in it. The letter has entirely disappeared and only two morsels of the check have been recovered from a waste-basket where somebody threw them. I am so sorry to bother you further about this small matter - you have been most kind and helpful in carrying it through for me - but I must beg for a copy of your letter which gave the prices for which the coins sold, and for another check, provided you can stop payment on the lost pieces! Of course if the check is cashed I must stand the loss. I enclose the two recovered morsels.

Sincerely yours,

John W. Garrett.

Enclosures:

Homer Brett, Esquire,
American Consul,
Milan.

Rome, March 11, 1931.

Dear Mr. Brett:

Many thanks for your duplicate check and for your letter. I shall not bother you any more about this matter, I hope. The prices of the two coins were all right and it isn't necessary for me to know any more about them.

Many thanks again.

Sincerely yours,

Homer Brett, Esquire,
American Consul,
Milan.
